

Recruitment of Educators Policy

Policy Number: 30

Date Updated: 27/5/20

Rationale and Policy Considerations

The education and care service understands how the recruitment and selection of child care professionals affects the health and wellbeing of children, families and peers. The education and care service seeks to promote diversity and equity, and in this regard considers it is crucial to establish legal and ethical recruitment and selection policies and practices. The service endeavours to establish decision making processes for staff selection that are transparent and which clearly define accountability.

The service has an understanding of equal employment opportunities legislation; the Fair Work Act and other relevant award/enterprise agreement conditions; and the requirements for staffing the education and care service contained within the Education and Care Services National Law. The service also understands its responsibilities under Occupational Safety and Health law to ensure workers are suitably qualified for their work, and are given adequate supervision and on the job training to enable them to work safely.

Education and care services also need to be child safe. This requires a selection process that attracts positive role models for children and people who will embrace the child protection principles held by the service. The service will therefore be vigilant in the recruitment and selection of staff and volunteers to reduce the risk of appointing unsuitable people.

Scope

This policy is written for children, families, staff and visitors of Merino Court Childcare Centre

Policy Statement

Merino Court Childcare Centre aims to provide a high quality service where staff are employed, based on their ability to meet the needs of the children and families we serve. New staff will need to meet legal requirements as well as the specific criteria for the position they fill. Merino Court is an equal opportunity employer and as such will employ staff based on their experience and performance over a trial period.

Educator/staff and volunteer recruitment at the service will be conducted in a fair and consistent manner which is ethically and legally responsible, reflects equal employment opportunity legislation and aims to appoint the best person available for the position advertised. All educators/staff and volunteers offered a position at the service will be screened carefully to identify individuals who would pose an unacceptable risk to children and the organisation. Recruitment planning is viewed as an on-going process which complements performance reviews and professional development opportunities.

The policy also aims to ensure:

- the continuity of educators/staff to maintain quality education and care for children and families;
- sufficient numbers of educators/staff maintained to meet all regulatory requirements;
- volunteers are used to augment educators/staff and add specific skills or attributes to the service; and
- educator/staff selection procedures are transparent and clearly accountable.

Policy Principles

Staffing

- The approved provider will ensure that the service is appropriately staffed at all times to meet all requirements of the Education and Care Service National Law Act.
- Only educators that are working directly with children will be included in calculating the educator to child ratios for the service.
- The approved provider will employ sufficient educators/staff to implement the service's Supervision Policy.
- The following criteria may highlight the need for recruitment:
 - the need for specialised skills, abilities or knowledge such as early childhood teachers, managers, cooks, support workers for children with additional needs, volunteers with special skills or office assistants;
 - development or review of a list of reliable relief educators/staff that may be required when permanent educators/staff are unable to work;

Potential selection criteria

- required qualifications including degrees, diplomas, first aid certificates;
- child protection requirements such as 'working with children' and national police checks;
- required personal attributes;
- required years of relevant working experience for the position;
- age requirements for the position
- required references.

Advertising

- All employment positions will be advertised according to equal employment opportunity legislation and will request applications in writing that address the selection criteria for the position and include the names and contact numbers of two referees.
- The service considers which media is most appropriate for each position to be advertised. This may include: newspapers, social media, websites, student guilds, employment agencies, local networks or associations, child care publications etc.
- The nominated supervisor will ensure that the position's job description:
 - reflects the service's philosophy or statement of principles;
 - outlines the roles, responsibilities and accountability of the position;
 - accurately describes the requirements of the position;

- lists all relevant qualifications and clearances to meet legislated requirements;
- is current and pertinent to the position.

The Selection Process

- A selection panel will be formed comprising of at least two people from: the approved provider, the nominated supervisor/coordinator, educator/staff member.
- The selection panel will evaluate each application in accordance with the selection criteria, short list those applicants who meet the selection criteria, and develop interview questions which address each selection criteria.
- Applicants that have not been shortlisted will be contacted and advised of their unsuccessful application.
- The shortlisted applicants will be invited for interview. Each applicant will be asked the same questions and their responses noted by the panel. Each applicant will be treated fairly, courteously and equally. Applicants will be provided with information about the conditions of employment of the position and given opportunities to raise their own questions.
- The service aims to recruit staff and volunteers who are positive adult role models, who have healthy self-esteem, stability and positive interests in their lives, as by actively seeking these positive attributes in candidates the service will be effectively screening out unsuitable people.
- After the interviews the panel will determine which applicants most fully meet the selection criteria.
- Potential applicants will be asked to do two casual shifts after the following checks are completed:
 - check two forms of identification;
 - ensure the applicant has a current working with children or criminal history check.
- If applicant appears to work well within the team and with the children the service will:
 - always conduct reference checks;
 - ask for a verified academic transcript of qualifications or check details with the educational institution;
 - carefully look at the applicant's employment history and seek explanations (e.g. travel, study leave) for any gaps;
- The panel recommendation will then be made to the approved provider and after approval from the approved provider the applicant will be offered the position.
- A letter of appointment will be sent to the successful applicant detailing:
 - the position;
 - award or enterprise agreement coverage;
 - wages, salary and other benefits;
 - date and time of commencement;
 - term of contract (if applicable);
 - contact person;
 - probationary period of three months
- After the appointment has been made and accepted those interviewed will be notified that the position has been filled.
- Prior to commencement of employment the new employee will be given a written contract of employment; a copy of their conditions of employment, and job description for the position.
- During the probation period, employees will need to demonstrate/provide/read;
 - initiative
 - efficiency with tasks
 - ability to follow instructions
 - working as part of a team
 - A Working with Children Card.
 - First Aid Certificate
 - Asthma and anaphylaxis training certificate
 - Child protection training
 - IM ALERT training
 - Read NQS and Relevant Regulations
 - Read policies

- New staff will have a four, eight and 12 week review with the coordinator to discuss concerns, training needs, goals and progress. The 12 week review will assess the Key Performance Indicators and is the same review that permanent staff have every 12 months.
- Merino Court will reserve the right to terminate employment after three months if Key Performance Indicators are not being met or any of the above requirements have not been satisfactorily addressed.
- At the completion of three months and subject to performance, child numbers and peer feedback, new staff will be offered a permanent contract.

Casual and Relief Educators

- A list of relief and casual employees will be maintained by the nominated supervisor. The list will identify each person's qualifications, relevant clearances with expiry dates, dates of previous work at the service and room/age grouping in which they worked.
- Each person on the relief and casual employees list will be contacted regularly to confirm their continuing availability.
- The service will advertise as required for new relief or casual staff, to ensure the most experienced and qualified persons are available.
- Contacts will be sought through local networks, to identify pools of relief staff with other education and care services.
